The Qantas Founders Museum is a project owned by Qantas Foundation Memorial Ltd (QFM). Qantas Foundation Memorial Ltd (QFM) is independent of Qantas Airways and is a non-profit trust company established by the people of Western Queensland to honour the men who founded Qantas and to preserve the heritage of Qantas Airways. Even though wholly independent, QFM has been formed with the full support of Qantas Airways. QFM is registered with the Australian Taxation Office as a deductible gift recipient and donations over $2 are tax deductible.

Australian Federal and State Governments have donated more than $7 million and Qantas more than $2 million towards the establishment of the museum. Other significant companies have donated towards the preservation of our aviation history. Stage 1 – the original Qantas Hangar and Stage 2 – a large modern air-conditioned display museum are completed, Stage 3 – the air park has commenced with the 747 Classic aircraft VH-EBQ now permanently on display.
